

Good food, Good life

A close-up photograph of a young child with dark skin and curly hair, smiling broadly while being held by an adult whose back is to the camera. The child is wearing a white tank top. The background is a soft-focus outdoor setting with green grass and a light blue sky.

Infant and young child nutrition - Advocacy Disclosure 2022

External Engagement

Foreword

Given our size and geographical presence, we are involved in multiple industry organizations at local, regional and global levels. We believe in the power of collective action, mainly for challenging topics that no one can achieve on its own.

In our response to the BMS Call to Action, we committed to actively engage with stakeholders to encourage the implementation of the WHO Code and subsequent relevant resolutions into national laws. Nestlé supports regulating promotion of infant formula for babies aged 0-12 months globally.

The most effective way to secure Code compliance is through well-drafted and well implemented legislation. To achieve this, we would like to engage with the WHO, UNICEF and the other signatories of the Call to Action to advocate for Code adoption by Member States.

To do so,

- We support government efforts, and only engage with them to implement efficient policy frameworks to improve nutrition and health of infants and young children. We collaborate with WHO, governments and other intergovernmental health agencies in their efforts to develop regulations to implement health and nutrition measures.
- We safeguard opportunities for others to lobby, including by not spending disproportionately.
- We pursue cooperation with CSOs to promote and support governmental efforts to improve transparency and accountability in relation to lobbying.

In the following pages, we disclose the exhaustive list of the Industry Associations of which we are an active member of.
