

Good Food, Good Life

Nestlé House Rules

Thanks for joining the Nestlé Facebook Page. This page is for everyone with an interest in Nestlé, and we welcome you to leave comments, post links and share videos with us and the rest of the online community. Our page is meant to help you better navigate through based on topics of interest. If you would like to discuss a topic related to Nestlé or ask a question about our business more widely, please visit our “Discussions” tab, where we’ll do our best to respond.

We’ll regularly review the page, responding to and passing on as many useful recommendations as we can. To help keep the conversation flowing, we may remove posts which could be deemed inappropriate or offensive to others. Here are our seven simple House Rules:

- Keep it clean: no indecent or otherwise inappropriate posts.
- Play fair: no libellous, defamatory, bullying, or abusive posts.
- No personal attacks, please.
- Stay on topic: no spam, good luck/chain posts, commercial/promotional posts, or repetitive postings.
- Be original: share video content, links, photographs, and text if you have rights to it; if you don’t own it or have permission, please don’t post it.
- Be mindful of people’s privacy: don’t invade other’s privacy or publicity rights; and don’t give out your personal information.
- Keep it true and legal: no misleading or deceptive posts, no unlawful purpose or activity posts.
- Introduce yourself: if you are affiliated with Nestlé (employee, agency, incentivized blogger/brand ambassador, etc.), be sure to be transparent about that and let everyone know.

Please note that the content posted by fans on this site does not necessarily reflect Nestlé’s views or opinions. We are not responsible for anything contained in links on this site to third party content or websites. We will review your comments and reserve the right to remove any that are inappropriate, offensive, or not related to the topics covered on this page.